Pop Goes Religion

Most of us are familiar with a TV show which originates out of Nashville, Tennessee called "Pop Goes The Country." It seems that those who are supposed to know have seen fit to combine pop and country music into one. Some have even gone so far as to say they have been united in marriage. This statement is a little surprising, because some of these same people would not hesitate to proclaim the marriage system to be an obsolete tradition, which has outlived its usefulness.

Most true country music fans would readily agree that the result has been disastrous. Such trash as we hear on the radio and TV these days would be unbelievable to our ancestors. Modern organs with their electronic keyboards eliminate the need for any talent whatsoever. Violins and banjos as we knew them are now useless, because they cannot be heard over the sound of the drums. Most of the singers' talents seem to be in the movement of their bodies, if we could call it talent. The apostle Paul, in his letter to the Galatians has a word which he uses for this, called revellings (meaning obscene songs and such like). He also says that they who do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God (Gal. 5:21).

We still have a few diehards who refuse to play this kind of music, but nothing can change one's mind like the promise of a large sum of money. Well-to-do people have been known to become "blind" and "deaf" overnight because of a few dollars.

As we look about us, we are reminded that country music is not the only thing which is disappearing from the American scene. Now and then there is talk of a drive-in church where those who wish can partake of the Lord's supper without getting out of their car. (Makes one wonder if there would be a menu posted nearby—and would we be able to order up a cup of fellowship?) I suppose very little time would be taken in order to attend church like this, but of course that is part of the plan.

Many preachers who claim to be good servants of the Lord have altered their sermons to conform with these modern times. Galatians 5 must not be mentioned because it condemns dancing and drunkenness. After all, this is the twentieth century, you know.

It seems that instead of the world's conforming to God's laws, man is trying to make the Bible conform to the world. The apostle Paul told the Romans, "And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Rom. 12:2).

Were it not for the power of God, a handful of good gospel preachers, and a few righteous people who love the Lord, religion would already have gone the way of country music.
