Do You Prepare For Worship

Man has long recognized the need to prepare. Many women still freeze or can food preparing for a later time. Young people go to school to prepare for later life. Surely we know we must prepare for the coming of the Lord and for this reason we become Christians. But when it comes to preparing ourselves for the weekly worship of the church, how often we fail. Some sleep through the worship, or are so exhausted that the worship is meaningless to them.

A congregation wants the preacher to prepare for his part of the worship service. Yet many who would condemn the preacher if he did not prepare are the same ones who make no personal preparation for worship.

A Christian should not stay out so late on Saturday night that they are unable to worship acceptably on the Lord's Day. To worship God in spirit and truth is just as much a command as to be baptized or to partake of the Lord's supper (Jn 4:24). When we fail to make proper preparation for worship we are not likely to worship God in spirit.

We would not go to work on Monday so exhausted that we fall asleep on the job. We would lose our job if we so behaved. A man should fear God more than any man (2 Corinthians 5:11). A Christian should be more afraid of losing his soul than his job.

Getting up before Sunday morning service early enough to read scripture and refresh our minds on the lesson will be a good way to start the day. Then when the hour of worship comes we will be better prepared to render acceptable worship to God. Worship is so important in our lives that we should consider it and give preparation its place with regard to it.

"I was glad when they said to me, "Let us go into the house of the Lord.'" - Psalm 122:1
